"As Bancroft truly says: 'It was neither commercial enterprise nor royal ambition which carried the power of France into the heart of our continent. The motive was religion.' We therefore naturally find the Jesuits were always on the outpost of French progress."—Hon. T. C. Catchings of Mississippi.

The story of the persecution of the Jesuits forms a gruesome chapter in Louisiana history. Jesuits were insulted, abused, and driven from the Colony. The aged Superior, Father Michael Baudouin, either, because his helplessness excited compassion, or because he had no friends nor relatives in France, was allowed to remain in New Orleans."—Claude L. Vogel, O.M. Cap., Ph.D.

FOREWORD

To recall the indomitable spirit of Marquette and Beaubois; to raise the thoughts of today and fill the dreams of tomorrow with the virile memory of a past glory; to give to the world a vision of the intrepid spirit in search of truth that has inspired the sons of Loyola; to show the students of today the golden links that bind the Society of Jesus to Louisiana, is the aim of the 1929 Wolf.

DEDICATION

For the academical importance to which he helped raise Loyola, for the generosity of spirit, the liberality of sentiment, and the kindness of heart with which he has adorned it—the 1929 Wolf staff has chosen for its dedication

President's Message

Rev. F. D. Sullivan, S.J.

President Loyola University

The Graduate, standing on the threshold of a new life, looks back lovingly on his Alma Mater. How fair She appears as the soft shadows of the evening of one's College career form a background of loving memories and grateful sentiments!

What has this fond Mother done for her ambitious child? She has directed his vision to the noblest of life's possibilities; guided his steps along the hard, straight, uphill road that leads to permanent success; She has inured him to the precious habits of serious study, profound thinking, energetic action; She has helped him to unfold into a perfect man.

What will the Graduate do now for his noble Mother? Will he build well and beautifully upon the solid foundation so carefully laid? Will he go forward, onward, and upward to the full realization of the hopes and promises of a well-guarded youth? Will the ideals of his mind and heart and soul of life's laboratories crystallize into the perfect virtues of a strong, noble Christian Gentleman—true to his God, his country, and his fellow-men?

This is surely the prayer and the longing of every member of Loyola's Faculty; this, my greatest hope and supremest reward.

History of the Senior Arts and Sciences Class

By Paul Ganucheau and Gerard Rault

CUSTOM HAS DECREED that all the great events of mankind be recorded for the benefit of future generations; so on the passing of the Class of '29 from the portals of Loyola University, we feel obliged to tell of their deeds that the men to come may see and pause in awe of the record of the greatest class that has ever graced Loyola. He who writes the history of this class is writing the history of the University for the past four years; for their deeds are already inscribed on the archives of fame more vividly than our meagre pen can portray them.

It would be proper to say that as freshmen we felt exceedingly inferior and meek—in fact, we can truthfully say that of the first two weeks of our college life. But when our famous team met and held the Vanderbilt yearlings, the rest of the University recognized that at last a real class had come to Loyola, and far from being "rats," we were lords of the campus. The glory which that team won has followed us during our college years—for it produced the men who are spoken of wherever football is mentioned—"Buck" Moore, Bill Ritchey, Pete Miller, Cal Cooper, "Tiny" Drouilhet, Joe Decelle, Don Maitland, and many others.

Not only in athletics has the Class of '29 made history. We have been the nucleus of every activity that has sprung into existence during the past four years. When we matriculated, there was no Dramatic Club, no plays and no endeavor whatsoever in the histrionic line. The men of the freshman class promptly organized "The Thespians," Loyola's Dramatic Club, and produced the first play to be presented by the University students.

Since our Sophomore year, the "Maroon" has flourished first under Joseph Abraham and later under Richard Drown, both members of the Arts and Sciences Class of '29.

In Harvey Strayhan, better known to the college as "Sally," we can boast of a man whom we consider is the ideal Loyola student. Since his freshman year, Sally has made his genial personality a byword on the campus; today he holds the highest position of honor in the school and rules the Student Council in the capacity of president.

Modesty forces us to refrain from further enumerating our achievements. But though we feel satisfied in looking back upon the record we have left behind us, there is a trace of sadness commingled with the joy—sadness at the thought of those comrades of the class which assembled for the first time in '25 whose paths have since then diverged from ours.

Loyola was the stage and we were the actors upon it! But the play is done; the curtain falls! It falls never to rise again upon those who have taken their last curtain call. To the spectators the drama is enacted—but to the actors its memory will linger forever.

History of the Senior Night Law Class

By D. Thomas Salsiccia

THE CLASS OF 1929 occupies a unique position in the history of legal education at Loyola University. Ours is the first to graduate under the new regime whose curriculum prescribes a course of four years instead of three in the evening school.

Our thoughts, but for a moment, shall dwell in retrospection, for "The Moving Finger writes; and, having writ, moves on." It seems a short while ago that the Freshman Class of 1925 assembled to elect some one to guide its destinies through the maelstrom of legal lore. Alden Muller was elected to fill the office of president. Examinations, at the end of the year, blasted the hopes of many with cataclysmic fury.

To the fold we returned in September, 1926, to take up the work where we had laid it down. Sophomores we were then, yea, a little more, embryo lawyers filled with the enthusiasm of wisdom and power. That year John Carter was chosen to blaze the trail leading to our cherished goal. The end of the year found our number considerably diminished.

Again, in September, 1927, our remnants returned to oppose the ominous advance of law books. Roy Donovan was honored with the post of president. Mid-term examinations confronted us for the first time. We suffered few casualties that year.

Again, to our jealous mistress we hastened to return in September, 1928. Our final year had come. The goal for which we had fought and bled was within our reach. The men chosen to lead us during our last days at Loyola were: John Charbonnet, Thomas Salsiccia, Ben Washastrom, and Ellis Itzkovitch.

In the realm of athletics we were represented by John Carter, cheer leader, and Roy Donovan, baseballer. Our class fostered the development of Loyola's first pep fraternity, The Golden Key, and was represented on the "Maroon" by three able members, Philip Giuffre, John Carter, and Thomas Salsiccia. Miss Leah Bertel served as editor of the "Law Journal" for one year.

Many of our members are leaders of the several legal fraternities, and members of academic fraternities. George Duron, founder of Loyola's first Spanish fraternity, Sigma Iota, is among our group. John Carter served as president of the Pan-Hellenic Council of Fraternities for two years.

In the course of our regime, the law faculty suffered a bereavement in the death of Mr. Benjamin Kernan. His lectures were the source of constant inspiration to his students. We feel a personal loss in his departure.

We owe a profound debt of gratitude to our Alma Mater, to the Reverend Regent, the Dean and the Faculty of the Law School, whose altruism, patience, and magnanimity have made it possible for us to realize our purpose and ambition.

Together we repeat the famous words of Lincoln: "With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in."

Farewell, Loyola! A long farewell to all thy greatness!

History of the Senior Day Law Class

By Raymond Stulb

THREE YEARS AGO, eighteen men and women approached the doors of the Loyola Law School. They had completed the required pre-law course under the able teaching of the Jesuit Fathers and now sought to be given the opportunity to share the wonderful store of legal learning which the Law Department had given to many others.

Most of them were classmates from the pre-law course and after three years of the study of law, these men have grown closer to each other until today they are known as big brothers and sisters in law. We attended the first lectures with keen interest and pride, but everything seemed dry and greatly different from our brief sojourn in the pre-law school. But before many weeks we learned of the intrigue and romance back of those apparent harsh and set rules of law. As soon as we became familiar with the requirements of a Class President to guide us through the dark and stormy passage of Freshman year, we held our first class meeting and elected Herbert Rousch. In athletics we were well represented by Loyola's champion football team of 1926, seven of us being members of the team.

Returning in the fall of 1927, we found that several of our classmates had met disaster in the examinations and our class was reduced to thirteen. This year our footsteps were led by Armand Daigle. During this year it was driven home to us how little we had learned about law in our Freshman year. But owing to the brilliant lectures of our professors we grasped the subject and were able to conquer our examinations. Our classmates Ritchie and Moore were elected captain and alternate-captain respectively, and Jaubert was named the best student athlete. Miss Pilsbury respresented us on the "Loyola Law Journal."

After a strenuous summer of reading those important cases that were assigned to us for summer work, we returned to our Senior year. Remembering the able guidance given us in our Junior year, we again elected Armand Daigle our president. This year we returned minus three of our classmates, but acquired one from the night school. During the mid-term exams it was announced that Miss Pilsbury had taken on the extra duties of being the wife of Mr. George Bywater, early in September, and she retired from our midst leaving many a sad heart. Jaubert again came to the front, being given the honor of being the most valuable player on the football team of 1928.

With our school examinations behind us and the bar examination and our legal career ahead of us, the Class of 1928 collectively and individually owe a debt of deep gratitude to the Reverent Regent, the Dean, and the Faculty for the patience and zeal they have shown at all times in helping us to reach the goal of our ambition, the coveted parchment marked LL.B. And as we bid farewell to Loyola, we carry with us the hope of attaining the high ideals that have been taught us at Loyola.

History of the Senior Dental Class

By F. A. Russo and Barry J. Barrodale

A GROUP OF THIRTY-ONE MEN, to be thereafter designated as the Dental Class of 1929, assembled at Loyola University September 16, 1925. It remained for us to prove that the quality of our aggregation was greater than the quantity.

It was not long before we had become a part of Loyola, sharing in her traditions and zealous of her honor. We were now able to realize that to be true sons of Loyola we must contribute something toward making her better. We were beginning to learn of the added blessedness of giving. Joe Dantone, H. LeBlanc, C. Melancon, and O. Ruiz were elected to lead us for the first year.

The beginning of our sophomore year found our ranks slightly depleted, but our spirits stronger than ever. Barrodale, Cointment, and Lloyd LeBlanc joined our class to help make up for the loss. Aubrey Schmidt, Frank Russo, Charles Calderoni, and George Doody were our officers for this year. The class was well represented in athletics as individuals and as a whole. The class basketball team was runner-up in the intra-mural league. We were represented on the football, baseball, and track teams.

Came our Junior year—already we were beginning to take on the professional aspect. This year was found much different than previous years as we were all working in the clinic. Again we were well represented in the University activities and athletics, having members in the band, on the staffs of the college paper and year book and on the football, baseball, and track teams. Our class basketball team was barely nosed out of the intra-mural championship. Louis LeBlanc, Prescott Smith, Raphael Benitez, and Barry Barrodale were our officers in our third year.

At the close of our third year, realizing the responsibility which would be ours as Seniors, we chose Prescott Smith, Ray Breaux, Charles Calderoni, and Barry Barrodale as guides in the final lap, with Barrodale and Frank Russo serving as historians. To begin the year, we took on seven new members: Elias, Keagy, Mitchell, Rodriguez, Sakai, Umstat, and Zoppi. Our Senior year was destined to be our banner one. We were represented on the Student Council, Pan-Hellenic Council, "Maroon," "Wolf," band, and had members on the football, track, baseball, and tennis teams. A member of our class was manager of varsity basketball and track teams; the editors of the "Dental Journal" were of our class. Thus finished our activities as members of Loyola's Dental School.

Our history is written. Our class comradeship of four years is no more. A note of sadness creeps in when we consider the warm friendships which must be broken. But they shall serve as sacred ties to bind us to a hallowed past. Now each of us shall go his way to follow his chosen vocation. We shall realize a return on the investment of four years of our life at Loyola. It is not in the scope of this history to predict the future, but, if our work here is in any sense indicative of our attitude towards the problems which we are yet to face, we feel that any optimism on our part is justified. As we go into the world of reality, let us ever keep in mind the noble traditions of Loyola; and let us rededicate ourselves to the ideals inculcated here. May we bring joy and not disappointment to those who love us.

History of the Senior Pharmacy Class

By Blanche R. Dickinson

E ARE ALL SCULPTORS of our own existence. The goal we have set is the model by which we work, and the present is the clay with which we are working—molding our tomorrow by our deeds of today. We cannot remodel the past—the future is only ours to anticipate—and now is our time to shape as we will, as graduation marks the beginning of our career, and the knowledge gained at our college cannot be destroyed by usage.

Of the large number of freshmen matriculating in the Pharmacy School in 1926 with the present graduating class, only twelve seniors remain in the group which will receive diplomas at the commencement exercises this June. Because of the rigid rules enforced by the State Board of Pharmacy, demanding that applicants seeking permission to practice pharmacy in the State of Louisiana must be college graduates of a three-year course instead of the previous customary two-year requirement, it is safe to say that the class which entered the college at the time of the new enforcement is better equipped to go before the examining committee than any class that has left the University in the past.

The Freshman Class of 1926 was well represented in athletic circles, giving to the University two basketball captains at the same time. Herbert Pourciau, more intimately known as "Disou," and Joseph "Bingo" Biundo shared these honors as leaders of the varsity and freshman cage teams respectively. The former student was awarded the D. H. Holmes trophy that year for being the best all-round athlete. As Juniors, the group elected Herbert Pourciau president for the second time, and later formed the Pharmacy Club, a social organization, which feted the 1927 graduates at a farewell party. In this year Frank Mumfrey and Herbert Pourciau won the Student Council's handball tournament, a victory which Frank Mumfrey repeated during the current season.

Members of the senior class who are holding responsible positions are: Hughes Robertson, president of the group; Julian Jurgens and Herbert Pourciau, delegates to the Student Council; Blanche Dickinson, circulation manager of the "Maroon"; Esther Sclafani and Josie Liuzza, secretaries at various times; Jack Gastrock, assistant instructor in Bacteriology; Joseph Romano, whose supply of inquiries in class never becomes exhausted; Victor Sibille, always supplied with good cheer and humor; and Ernest Jacobs, whose aim is now to master the medical profession.

The "Departing Dozen" of the Graduating Class of 1929 now realize that the three years spent in the pursuit of pharmaceutical knowledge have been the happiest period of their lives. They wish to thank their esteemed professors for their assistance and especially are they grateful to Dean Grasser, for rendering paternal aid to them.

Clark D. Shaughnessy

Head Football Coach

One of the eight great coaches of America—that's the reputation of the mighty pig-skin mentor of the fighting Wolf-pack. Clark Shaughnessy is a master mind of the great rough and tussle game! But his teams rely more on their brains than their brawn, for verily, he hath made the Wolves one of the trickiest of teams. He delights in surprising his opposition with trick formations, fake and delayed bucks, screened passes, etc., ad infinitum. As his own men prefer it, he is the "Old Fox" to them, with more tricks in his bag than a whole pack of foxes.

Dame Fortune has not favored Shaughnessy with the breaks since he has ben here. His first year was almost ruined by injuries, and last year his Wolves lost to Notre Dame, the Fighting Irish, within the last 30 seconds of play, in which was the greatest game of the season.

Tad Gormley

Trainer; Basketball and Track Coach

The addition of Tad Gormley to the coaching staff of the Wolves was the great play of the Loyola Athletic Council. Tad has forgotten more about athletics than most coaches know. He knows the ins and outs, ups and downs, of all the sports, but he excels as a trainer of men. He is responsible for the wonderful physical condition of the Loyola athletes. His men are always in shape, "in the pink," as our correspondent calls them.

Gormley has been associated with college athletics for many, many moons. He came to us from Louisiana State. There he gathered his basketball and track teams, which furnished most of the stiff opposition for Southern competitors.

We heartily welcome him and only ask that he will continue his good work with us and our athletes.

Captain Pete Miller

One of the greatest terminals in Loyola history—that's Pete Miller, captain of the 1928 Wolfpack. With the close of the grid season, Pete ended a brilliant four-year term on Loyola athletic teams, but the gilt-edged performance he turned in during these years will long stand as an example for future terminals. A fine offensive end, the rangy Wolf captain, nevertheless, reaped the major portion of his honors by reason of his effective method of breaking through opponents' interference to down the ball-carrier. His sterling play against Notre Dame early in the season earned him All-American mention from several sources.

Buck Moore

Staging a sensational come-back after having suffered an almost fatal skull injury during the previous season, "The Dixie Flyer" proved his true calibre by again running wild against strong opposition despite the year's lay-off. Miscellaneous dashes of half the length of the field and over, featured his performance throughout the campaign, the longest jaunt being a 98-yard sprint in the Spring Hill skirmish. His defensive work at safety was of the highest order, deadly tackles in tight spots helping to bring him recognition which resulted in All-American mention.

Bill Ritchey

Bill is one of the many Wolf gridders who closed brilliant careers with the final set-to of the '28 season and his passing will leave a gaping hole near the middle of the line which will be mighty hard to fill. For the past three years, the position of right guard has been one for which the coaching staff had no concern, for with Bill on the job the place was well filled. He captained the Pack in 1927 and was selected on numerous All-Southern elevens. Besides being a football player of merit, Bill is one of the leading students in the College of Law.

Alternate Captain-Elect Junior Lopez

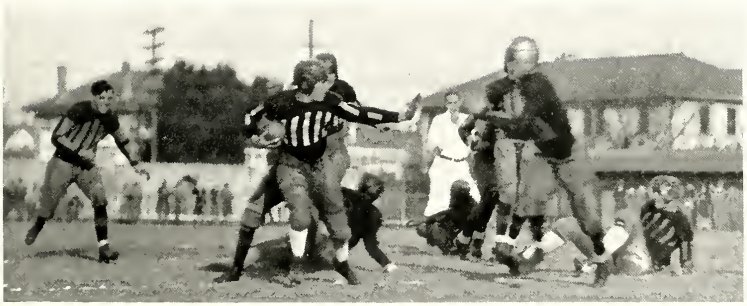
Junior, whom Shaughnessy rates as one of the best signal-callers he has ever come in contact with, will serve as alternate-captain of the Wolves next fall. He is an example of the type of athletes intra-mural sports may produce, having graduated to the varsity fold from the ranks of the inter-class gridders. Junior is not only a heady quarterback, but is a dandy broken-field runner and a deadly heaver of forward passes of the fork-handed variety.

Captain-Elect "Brute" Galle

"Brute" should experience his best year as captain of the Pack next fall provided he can avert a repetition of the injuries which handicapped him in '28. He is tall, rangy and powerful, and will go well at the tackle berth assigned him. There is also a possibility of his being shifted to the pivot position where he starred on the Frosh team, which he captained in 1926. Prior to coming to Loyola, "Brute" was an All-Southern prep tackle at Warren Easton.

Aubrey Budge

"Ike" added to his laurels as a blocking and interfering back by blossoming forth as one of Coach Shaughnessy's most versatile ball-carriers during the past campaign, and the gap he leaves in the backfield quartet will be hard to fill. He proved an able helpmate for Buck Moore and between them they made life miserable for more than one opposing end. In addition to starring as a halfback on the grid squad, Ike is one of Gormley's most consistent tracksters.



"Tiny" Drouilhet

"Tiny" is undoubtedly one of the greatest all-around athletes New Orleans has ever seen and his work at one of the tackle positions on the grid outfit left nothing to be desired in the way of effectiveness. In addition to making life miserable for opposing ball-carriers on more than one occasion, the mammoth tackle utilized his unusual height and reach to shift to an end position on the offense and snatch passes to place the Wolves within scoring distance. Tiny also captained the cage five and was the mainstay of the track squad in the field events.

Alternate-Captain Cal Cooper

The shining feature of Cal's play as a tackle through the past three years has been his unfailing consistency. Game in and game out, the hefty tackle has been in there contesting every inch of the way and few indeed were the minutes he occupied a seat on the bench during the past few seasons. As a running mate to Tiny Drouilhet, Cal has given the Wolves the nucleus of an impenetrable forward wall by providing a pair of tackles through whom opponents' gains have been so small as to appear negligible.

"Ham" Weddle

"Ham" is the third of the trio of fullbacks who leave the Wolf fold this June, anyone of which would go a long way towards solving Coach Shaughnessy's backfield problem in the fall. Ham proved quite a handy man to have around during the past season. His punting was better-than-average, his defensive work compared with the best, and his line plunging was a marvel to look at. Whenever the Wolves were in a tight spot with a yard or two needed for a first down, Ham was the boy who was sent after it, and seldom indeed were the occasions on which he failed.

Charley Jaubert

Though Charley has in his time played just about every position on the squad, with the possible exception of right end on the bench, he found himself last year as a center, and the way he played that position was little short of a caution. Charley comes mighty close to being the headiest man on the squad, and as such was invaluable in backing up the line on the defense and diagnosing the plays of the opponents before they were well started. He was judged the most valuable member of the squad and received the trophy annually awarded the recipient of this honor.

"Darky" Darcantel

(Not in panel.)

"Darky" held down the quarterback position on the Frosh eleven of '25, but ill health forced him to leave school for two years. He returned last fall and gave the other aspirants for the field-general's job a tough fight. In addition to possessing a clear head and a keen selection of plays, Darky is a formidable punter.

Joe Decell

Joe played the greatest game of his career—and one of the most brilliant ever turned in on local soil—against the Gentlemen from Centenary. The exhibition of high-class fullbacking he showed on that occasion was probably the deciding factor of the fray and earned him the right to be classed with the best ball-toters in this section. Prior to being converted into a fullback, Joe had tried his hand at end and halfback with varying success.

Clem Sehrt

Though laboring under the handicap of attempting to break into a line-up composed entirely of veterans of proven ability, Clem saw plenty of service in '28 and is expected to be the star of the forward wall next fall. He possesses all the requisites of the ideal tackle and will fit in perfectly with Coach Shaughnessy's system of play. Clem has two more years of competition ahead of him.

Bum Heier

Bum is expected to carve quite a niche for himself in Loyola's athletic history before his term of service is completed. He is one of the most promising backs on the squad and is a track and basketball man of proven ability. With Lopez being the only member of the regular backfield quartet returning next fall, the stage is all set for Bum to break into the line-up, and, when he does, the fans will see a real flashy broken field runner in action.

Dave Keiffer

A fighting tackle, sent us by St. Stanislaus College, and one who knows his football and holds his ground. Dave is the old "stone wall" personified, and the wise quarterback on the opposition seldom deems to try his position again, 'cause Dave tackles and holds on like a leach. He should be found at a regular tackle position this fall. Go to it, Dave!

"Pee Wee" Allen

After a year spent mostly on the bench acting as understudy to Pete Miller, Pee Wee picked up sufficient knowledge and experience to earn the other terminal position, and last fall served as an able running mate to the Wolf leader. Pee Wee is especially good on the offense, his specialty consisting of snagging forward passes. Because of his weight, he may be converted into a tackle next fall. At any rate, watch him go!

Charley Cotten

Probably Cooper's only rival as far as consistency is concerned, Charley Cotten rounded out three years of service as a Wolf guard with several sterling performances during the 1928 campaign. Though rather light for a guard, Charley more than makes up for this deficiency in fighting spirit. He hails from McComb, Mississippi, which also produced Bill Ritchey and Buck Moore.

Joe Tetlow

The pony back, the mustang of the Pack, Joe gallops up and down all afternoon much to the agony and dismay of the coach sitting on the other side. When he shakes his shaggy mane, and let's out a snort, he means that he's on his way and only the last chalk line will satisfy. A second "Buck Moore" in the making. He may be greater, who knows. This "hoss" bears watching.

Joseph Blasi

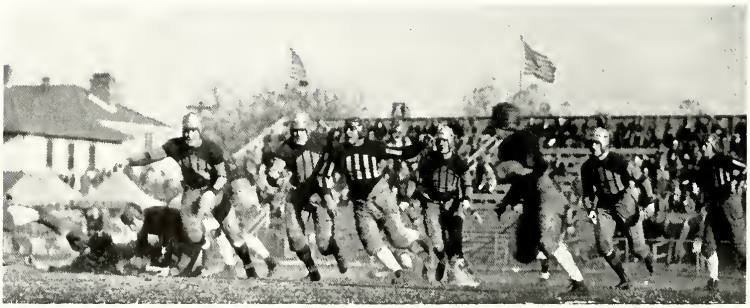
A good blocker, a dandy tackler, and a wonderful receiver of forward passes—that's Joe Blasi, Wolf end, who seems destined to become a future great. Joe is almost a certainty to make one of the regular terminal positions next fall. He is a deadly tackler, a smart man on the defense, and his wonderful adeptness at catching forward passes from all angles makes him a constant threat to the opposition. Watch Joe get out and snag those passes as he crosses the goal line!

Albertus Kreider

"Goat's" willingness to mix it up with adversaries twice his size and his ideal football temperament made him a most valuable man to have around the Maroon camp last fall, and his passing will be regretted by all who knew his true ability. Handicapped by a lack of weight and an over-abundance of tackle material on the scene before him, he nevertheless broke into more than his share of games and played through them all with the never-say-die spirit which is characteristic of him.

Louis Peskin

Here is a player who is going to make himself heard from next year. Peskin broke into many games at a terminal position last fall and demonstrated that he can hold his own with all comers. Peskin has had some experience at fullbacking, and with his great weight and strength, Coach Shaughnessy may convert him into a fullback next season. He has shown himself to be a line-plunger of no little merit, and a good defensive man. Whether he is placed at end or fullback, keep your eyes on Peskin next fall.



"Zeke" Bonura

Though "Zeke" enters his chief claim to athletic fame in other lines, he is a capable tackle and if he returns next fall, may be seen holding down a regular berth, where his bulk and agility will prove a decided asset. We say "if he returns," for his proficiency at baseball has brought him several alluring big-time offers. "Zeke" was the holder of the national javelin record while still in prep school and made the All-American scholastic basketball five before commencing his career as a Wolf athlete.

Charles Keller

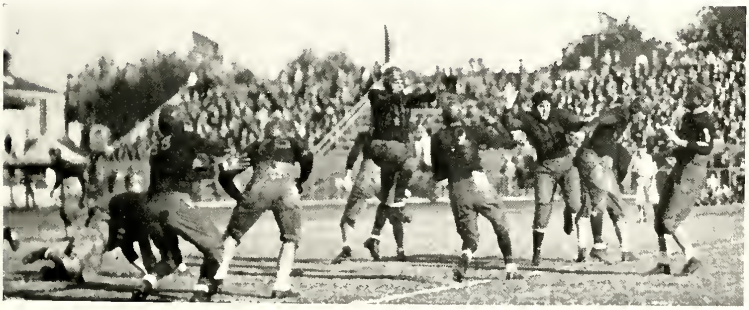
Fast and agile, Charley is the type of lineman that Coach Shaughnessy loves to have around. Keller came to Loyola from Baton Rouge, where he had established himself as a dandy tackle. With an unfortunate accident keeping him inactive during most of his Frosh year, Charley showed his real capabilities in '27 and '28, and he is being relied upon for a regular tackle berth next fall.

Maurice Juge

Maurice displayed a bang-up game at fullback in several games last fall and will make a strong bid for the regular job in '29. He is a veritable battering-ram on the offense and is an adept blocker and tackler. He prepped at the local Jesuits High, and was a big factor in their many successes on the grid.

Tynes Mixon

"Mix's" bulk and experience should make him one of the foremost line candidates at Shaughnessy's command next fall, and it is going to take a mighty capable man to beat him out of a regular tackle berth. And, just in case someone of the sort should turn up, Mix will probably make the eleven anyway, performing at the pivot position. He has played both, and played them well, during the past two seasons and should end his career in '29 as one of the Wolves' most brilliant linemen.



Don Maitland

Though sick for a brief period during the 1928 season, Don played fine ball during the rest of the campaign and again proved himself one of the big guns of the Wolf defense. His efforts at crashing the line and backing up the forward wall on the defense were bright spots in almost every contest and brought him much favorable comment from the sport scribes.

Disou Pourciau

Disou's specialties are baseball and basketball but his football ability is such that, had he had a few years of prep training to prepare him for the college game, he would probably have developed into one of the most versatile ball-toters of the outfit. The fact remains, however, that he never touched a pigskin until he got to college and he was just acquiring the knack of it when his three years were up. He is a wizard at grabbing forward passes and is a shifty broken-field runner.

Leon Tujague

A product of Opelousas High, where he starred for several seasons as a lineman, Leon made a strong bid for a regular berth last fall, his first as a member of the Pack and will make them all hustle next year. The graduation of several of Shaughnessy's first-string tackles leaves the way open for a pair of former substitutes to break into the lineup and Tujague will be among the first to be given consideration if he plays up to the form exhibited last fall.

Wallace Rheams

The absence of a few pounds in weight doomed "Skinny" to play for three years as a member of the Pack without acquiring a regular berth, but it can be truthfully said that the lack of weight was probably the only thing that kept him on the bench most of the time. His knowledge of the game and his ability to put that knowledge into execution were equal to that of any of the regulars. When Skinny did break into the lineup, however, he demonstrated the fact that weight is not the only requisite of a good gridder by holding his own with men much heavier than himself.

Nolan Richards

Playing his first year as a member of the Varsity in 1928, Nolan gave promise of developing into a fine halfback, displaying marked ability to circle the ends and to receive forward passes. In addition to being one of the best prospects on the grid roster, he is slated to be a star of the highest magnitude on the diamond and basketball court.

"Cat" Simmons

"Cat" was a teammate of Allen and Mixon at Magnolia High before coming to Loyola, and like them, should go well next fall. Though he is rather light for a regular berth, the chances are he'll break into a number of games, and, when he does, Wolf supporters can rest assured that the end position which he occupies is in good hands. He finishes next year.

Bob Smith

Bob is the third of the "Smith Brothers" to fight for positions on the Wolf varsity, and if we are to judge by his elder brothers' success he will be the star of the outfit before he is through. Though he has performed capably at both the center and the end positions, he seems destined to follow in his brother "A. D.'s" shoes, and develop into a fine pivot.

VARSITY FOOTBALL, 1928

Resume of Season

Happenings during the 1928 grid campaign, during which the Wolfpack chalked up seven victories in ten starts, proved that the group of pigskinners which Head Coach Clark Shaughnessy placed on the field ranked with the foremost elevens in this section. Decisive triumphs were scored over representative elevens from all sections of the nation and several of the Wolves' successes were scored at the expense of S. I. C. and S. I. A. A. opponents of high calibre. Foremost events of the season were victories over Centenary, Ole Miss and the Haskell Indians, as well as a near-triumph over the Notre Dame Micks.

Howard, 0; Loyola, 18

Captain Pete Miller led his cohorts on the field for the first time when they played under wraps in the curtain-raiser to score a three-touchdown win over the Howard Bulldogs, members of the S. I. A. A., who had spoiled a promising season for the Maroons in '27 by holding them to a tie. A pair of scintillating sophomoric ball-carriers provided the scoring punch for the Pack in the absence of Buck Moore, who was allowed to remain idle in preparation for the Notre Dame clash. Joe Tetlow and Bum Heier are the lads in question and their cyclonic dashes placed the oval within scoring distance on three occasions. Junior Lopez, Ham Weddle and Don Maitland got credit for the markers when they scored on short bucks after sustained marches down the field. Clem Sehrt, in his initial varsity game, Tiny Drouilhet and Bill Ritchey played stellar ball in the line.

Notre Dame, 12; Loyola, 6

Journeying to South Bend to try and accomplish what no team had succeeded in doing in twenty-odd years—score a win over Rockne's Million Micks on their home grounds, the Wolves came within an ace of doing that very thing only to see the Fighting Irish come from behind in the last minute of play to snatch apparent victory from the hands of the fighting Maroons. The Wolves marched fifty yards to score during the first half, Lopez scoring on a quarterback sneak after Budge, Weddle and Moore had advanced the oval to the one-yard line. The Micks came back in the second half to even the count when Jack Elder, intercollegiate sprint champion, eluded the Loyola secondary and scampered forty-six yards down the side-line for the tieing marker. Four times after this, Rockne's versatile backs carried the ball to within the Wolves' five-yard line and three times the Pack threw them back. On the fourth occasion, with a scant minute left to play, Neimic scored after three attempts from the one-yard line.

Oglethorpe, 7; Loyola, 33

A pair of long dashes by Buck Moore paved the way for Shaughnessy's clan to score a decisive win over the Oglethorpe Petrels of the S. I. A. A. by a 33-7 count. Before the contest was well started, the blonde flash had twice broke loose for dashes of half the length of the field and had given the Pack an advantage which they had no difficulty in retaining. After the regulars had piled up a safe lead, the second-stringers had an opportunity to show their wares and they held the Petrels at bay on all save one occasion when Cy Bell, diminutive signal-barker, saved the homelings from a shut-out by getting away for a long run. In the Loyola line, the work of Pete Miller, Charley Cotten, Charley Jaubert and Cal Cooper was especially commendable.

Detroit, 27; Loyola, 0

Coach Dorais' Titans of Detroit University gained revenge in ample measure for the 38-0 defeat the Wolves had handed them in '26 by humiliating the Maroons by a 27-0 score on the occasion of their visit to the Michigan metropolis. The stalwart Titan line smothered the Wolf plays throughout the first half and the speedy Detroit backs had accumulated a three-touchdown lead ere the halfway point was reached. From that point on, the Wolves braced and gave as much as they received but the damage was already done and a long pass, Brazil to Connell, scored an additional and totally unnecessary touchdown.

Ole Miss, 14; Loyola, 34

Playing a rejuvenated game to redeem their crushing defeat of the previous week, the Maroons annihilated Homer Hazell's erstwhile "Mighty" Mississippians to take a position on a par with the best of the S. I. C. outfits. Buck Moore's 98-yard dash through the entire Ole Miss squad for the Wolves' fourth marker was the brightest piece of individual work of the afternoon. It came at a most opportune time, the visitors having just staged a comeback to make the count 21-14. The entire Wolf line played magnificent ball and opened huge gaps through which the backs galloped almost at will. Ham Waddle's line smashing, Joe Decell's accurate place-kicking and Aubrey Budge's off-tackle slants were the offensive features from the local point of view, aside from the 98-yard excursion of The Dixie Flyer.

St. Edwards, 0; Loyola, 28

Jack Meager's St. Ed eleven, representing the Texas Conference, fared no better than had the majority of its predecessors and fell before the vicious onslaught of the Wolfpack by a 27-0 count. Budge, Decell, Moore, Lopez and Blasi scored against the Texans while the forward wall was putting up one of its best games of the campaign. A baffling assortment of passes from the left hand of Junior Lopez to the waiting arms of Blasi, Decell and Drouilhet, combined with Moore's 47-yard sprint, proved a trifle more than the St. Ed secondary defense could withstand and allowed the Pack to accumulate enough points to salt away the decision. Jaubert at center and Keiffer and Miller at tackle and end, respectively, played jam-up ball in the line.

Haskell Indians, 0; Loyola, 20

Shaughnessy's crew of pigskin toters avenged last year's 3-0 defeat by handing the Redskins from Lawrence, Kansas, the extremely short end of a 20-0 score. Led by a pair of wily and elusive backs in the persons of Lou Weller and Buster Charles, and boasting a line which charged hard and fast, the Indians presented a powerful front to the Maroons and succumbed only after the bitterest sort of struggle. For the victors, the work of Drouilhet, Weddle and Moore was outstanding. Drouilhet's punting was a revelation, one boot traveling over eighty yards. Lopez scored the initial marker on a short plunge at center and Weddle accounted for the second on a five-yard line smash. He added a third shortly after on another short-line buck.

Centenary, 6; Loyola, 23

The powerful Gentlemen from Shreveport bowed before the superior ability of the Wolves when the latter came back after trailing at the half to score three times and take the decision in one of the best-played contests of the entire campaign. To Joe Decell goes the lion's share of the credit for the remarkable come-back staged by the Loyolans in that memorable second period. Joe overshadowed every other player on the field with as brilliant an exhibition of all-around fullbacking as has been seen locally in many a day. After the Wolves had scored a pair of safeties and the Gents had annexed a touchdown to lead 6-4 at the half, Decell led the way to his mates in scoring three markers during the final period. From his own 43-yard mark he battered his way almost single-handedly to the distant goal for the first touchdown of the period to acquire the lead for the Maroons. From then on, the Wolf attack was invincible and it became merely a question of the size of the score.

Hilary Gaudin
Manager

Spring Hill, 6; Loyola, 45

A game but powerless Hillian eleven was no match for the victory-maddened Wolves on Turkey Day and the Badgers, who made a creditable showing in the S. I. A. A. race, were smothered under a barrage of touchdowns in a lop-sided contest. The second-string Wolf lineup started the fray and Joe Tetlow's scintillating 52 and 40-yard runs started off an afternoon that was scheduled to be replete with such achievements. Shortly afterward, Buck Moore got away for a 93-yard jaunt and Cocky Roach, Hillian signal-caller, paved the way for his eleven's only score with a sprint of 80 yards. Ritchey, Schrt, Keiffer and Jaubert were the line stars.

Quantico Marines, 14; Loyola, 13

The Quantico Marines, the only outfit to humble the Wolfpack at home since 1925, accomplished this feat for the second time in two seasons when they eked out a one-point decision over the locals in the final fray of the season. In Shapley, Levey and Woods the Leathernecks presented a trio of truly great backs and their ends, Phillips and Whitfield, were not far behind in ability. Budge and Moore, as usual, stood out in the Wolf backfield and broke away for 45 and 55-yard runs, respectively, but the linemen, especially Jaubert, Ritchey and Drouilhet, were the real heroes of the clash.

Resume of Season

One of the most powerful Wolf quintets in many years was developed by Coach Tad Gormley in his initial season at the helm of Loyola cage activities.

With several veterans of former years as a nucleus, and a wealth of new material at his disposal, the Maroon mentor turned out an aggregation of hoopsters which won all of its seven starts in the local Senior A. A. U. league race to capture the championship and a trip to the nationals at Kansas City where they met defeat at the hands of the versatile Miami five in the second round of play.

In games arranged outside the league, the Wolves defeated the Mississippi State College five in both ends of a double-header played in Hattiesburg, Mississippi, by decisive scores of 42-26 and 36-26. The third outside game was played with the Bogalusa "Y" outfit in the up-state town and resulted in a close win for the Gormelyites, an eight-point margin separating the outfits at the finish.

The Loyolans breezed to the Senior League title and never so much as allowed the seven other entries to even assume a threatening attitude. From the time they won the opening set-to from the Gymnasts by a 76-19 count until they hung up a local scoring record in the closing game with an 82-point total, Gormley's clan of netmen had things pretty much their own way. The only serious competition was offered by the Freshman outfit, which Tad also entered in the series to afford them a little valuable experience.

Zeke Bonura, hefty Wolf forward and offensive ace, was the individual star of the series and set a record for individual scoring with a mark of 76 field goals and 24 foul shots in seven contests, an average of approximately 25 points per contest. "Disou" Pourciau, Johnny Quilliber and Bum Heier also contributed generously toward the scoring while Dave Keiffer, Charley Jaubert, Nolan Richards, Pee Wee Allen and Joe Biundo kept the opponents away from the hoop.

Tiny Drouilhet, Wolf cage captain, was kept on the sidelines after the initial contest due to a severe case of blood poisoning and the captaincy fell to Disou Pourciau, who led his mates to the most successful season in history. Heier, a guard, was selected on the All-Star Senior League five at the close of the season along with Bonura, who merited a forward berth.

Resume of Season

Following the good example placed before them in the persons of the varsity basketeers, the yearling hoop artists romped through their schedu'e in fine fashion, losing but three contests out of the eleven played.

Entered in the Senior League as the running mate of the varsity, the Frosh finished in second place with a record of six wins in seven starts. The only defeat was chalked up by the varsity.

In games played outside of the city, the Frosh lost both ends of a double bill to the St. Stanislaus five in Bay St. Louis, Miss., and lost the second game to the Independence basket-tossers after having played a tie on the opening night.

Scarey Fannin was the big gun of the yearling attacking force and won a place at a forward berth on the all-star selection at the close of the local season. He was high man in the scoring department with a season's record of forty-three field goals and eighteen free tosses. Ray Mock was the next best offensive weapon at the Frosh's disposal. The other regulars included Chacherie, Eubanks and Flynn.

Baseball

VARSITY BASEBALL TEAM

Varsity Baseball

Resume of Season, 1928

The most disastrous season in Maroon baseball history, though an abbreviated one, found the Hayesmen failing to score a victory in six starts.

Scheduled to open their campaign with a two-game series against the highly-touted Notre Dame ball tossers on the local stadium, inclement weather intervened and forced the traveling Micks to leave the Crescent City without having had an opportunity of testing the prowess of the Loyolans.

Coach Harry Rabenhorst's Louisiana State Tigers invaded the Wolves' lair to take both ends of a double-header in the delayed curtain-raiser by score of 12-4 and 9-8. The inability of the Wolf hurlers to go the route was the main cause of the double disaster as the hitsmiths knocked out a total of twenty-two lusty base wallops during the course of the two games. Captain Disou Pourciau and Pee Wee Allen shared hitting honors for the series, the former crashing out a pair of home runs and a single while the big outer gardener collected a quintet of one-base wallops. Pourciau also provided the defensive thrills, his performance in the center garden being sterling and he accounted for several spectacular catches of the shoe-string variety.

Brute Galle, elongated right-hander, drew Coach Hayes' mound assignment in the opening clash and went well right up to the eighth stanza when, with the count knotted at four-all, his mates began kicking the ball around and before the storm had blown over the Tigers had accumulated a six-run advantage.

Bob Smith held the Bengals hitless and runless during the first five innings of the second contest and was apparently breezing behind what seemed to be a pretty safe six-run lead when his mates' defensive play again went awry and the up-staters pounded the ball unmercifully to eke out a 9-8 decision.

Spring Hill's ferocious Badgers, who turned out one of their most proficient diamond aggregations in years, had little trouble sweeping a four-game series with the hapless Hayesmen.

After dropping a pair of clashes, one by a forfeit and the second by a 9-8 count, the Maroons journeyed to Mobile, Ala., to complete the job by losing the remaining two, 7-6 and 18-6.

Lefty Dolese started on the hill for the Wolves in the opener and seemed about to break the jinx that had been camping on the Pack's trail. Holding fast to a one-run lead in the ninth canto, Lefty uncorked a wild pitch that caught Halloran in the ribs and started the homelings on their winning way again. McCarthy, a pinch-hitter, gave the game a regular story-book finish by stepping into a fast one and sailing it over the center wall to account for the tieing and winning markers.

Brute Galle, Bob Smith and Jimmy Courtin all tried their hands at baffling the Hillian batters in the finale but the Daly cohorts treated them all alike and counted no less than eighteen times on twenty-three hits. The seventh inning was the only one in which the Hill hitters failed to produce a run.

Huey McEvoy starred with the willow for the winners and pounded out a pair of circuit clouts, a triple and a single. For Coach Hayes' crew, Charley Jaubert and Pee Wee Allen did their best to stem the avalanche of runs being hung up by the Badgers. Allen connected safely thrice, knocking out a double and a pair of singles. Jaubert's three safeties were all of the one-base variety. A homer from the stick of Joe Decell accounted for the Wolves' final pair of markers.

Resume of Tennis Season

Though the varsity tennis squad has not yet been selected as the Wolf goes to press, indications are that Loyola's initial venture in this sport will meet with better than average success. Arrangements for one inter-collegiate match have already been completed and negotiations for others are under way.

In the annual tourney sponsored by the Tennis Association, Dick Drown won the championship for the second time in three years by defeating Tex Eubank in the finals in a gruelling four-set match, 10-8, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2.

The preliminary matches were completed with few upsets, Quilliber, Carter, Eubank and Drown reaching the semi-finals. Eubank won a hard-fought match from Carter to reach the finals, while Quilliber, '28 champ, fell before Drown by a count of 7-5, 6-0, 6-1. The final match found Eubank taking a 5-2 lead over Drown in the initial set only to lose it eventually after eighteen games had been played. He again took a lead in the second and ran out with but the loss of two games. From there on, however, the '27 titlist had the upper hand and ran out the remaining sets at 6-4 and 6-2 to win the title.

Varsity Track Season

As the Wolf goes to press prospects for a successful track season are exceptionally bright. Tad Gormley, veteran track mentor, has an abundance of capable and willing material on hand from which he should develop an excellent all-around aggregation.

Handicapped by a dearth of candidates for the field events, the Wolves will be faced with the task of scoring sufficient points in the sprints and shorter distances to overcome this disadvantage. The majority of the candidates are showing fine form in the sprints, the hurdles and the broad jump, while several relay combinations will give the opposition plenty of competition.

In weekly meets held in the stadium, Gormley uncovered a number of consistent performers. Among these are Emmett Toppino, whose time in the century dash marks him as one of the best prospects the Maroon mentor has ever had under his wing; "Korno" Voorhies, another sprinter who showed great promise in the 100 and 220-yard dashes; Petty Smith, who was the best quarter-miler on the squad last year; Bum Heier, a reliable man in almost any event, including the hurdles, the high jump and the sprints; Joe Tetlow, a brilliant broad jumper and hop, step and jumper, and Francis Achee, the best of the long distance men.

Scheduled to compete in the Southwestern Relays, and in team meets with Southwestern and Louisiana State, the Wolf tracksters should prove their mettle by turning in a number of winning efforts.

Intramural Sports

Basketball

The Sophomore Arts survived the eliminations in the intramural cage race to take down the honors by defeating the frosh dentals by a score of 25-20 in the finals and to merit the silver basketballs awarded the titlists by the Student Council, sponsors of the tourney.

In the preliminary skirmishes in the College of Arts and Sciences the sophs won from the frosh, 22-19, and the seniors downed the juniors, 21-20. The final contest found the sophs taking the measure of the seniors by a 44-27 count.

In the law department the frosh defeated the seniors by a score of 16-7. The frosh dentals, meanwhile, had survived the eliminations in their department and in the semi-finals defeated the pharmacy representatives handily. The other semi-final match found the frosh lawyers falling before the soph arts combination.

The sharp-shooting of Petrie, Hunter and Butler in the finals of the tourney enabled the arts cagers to take a commanding lead over the embryo dentists at the outset and they drew away to lead by an 11-6 count at the half. In the final stanza the ultimate losers tightened their defense to hold the arts five on even terms, but were unable to overcome their five-point lead and lost, 25-20.

Handball

The fourth annual handball tournament, under the sponsorship of the Student Council, found the Pharmacy representatives, Frank Mumfrey and Philip Wingerter, being crowned champions. This is the second consecutive year that the Pharmacy entrants have been returned victors. Play in the tournament was fast, and the games closely contested.

In the eliminations which were held among the various departments, four teams won the right to play in the semi-finals. They were Ray Stulb and Anthony Schiro of the Law Department, Ed Sander and Charles Carter of the Arts and Sciences department, Emmitt Benit and Wallace Kern of the Dentistry department, and Frank Mumfrey and Philip Wingerter from the Pharmacy department.

Stulb and Schiro, and Mumfrey and Wingerter won their way into the finals, the former pair defeating Sander and Carter, with the latter triumphing over Benit and Kern. In three closely played and interesting games, Mumfrey and Wingerter trounced Stulb and Schiro, thereby winning the gold handballs donated by the Student Council to the winners. The runners-up were awarded silver footballs for their splendid efforts.

"Father Nicholas de Beauhois, S.J., on August 17, 1727, welcomed the Ursulines, whom his efforts had brought to New Orleans. These nuns started the first school for girls in what is now the United States of America. In 1736 they began the first 'Charity Hospital' in New Orleans."—Claude L. Vogel, O.M. Cap., Ph.D.

THE PART MAISON BLANCHE TAKES IN SCHOOL LIFE

Maison Blanche trig suits go into every classroom. In the Gym and on the Campus, Maison Blanche sporting goods and suits play a leading part.

At special functions the trim smartness of the "Styleplus" Tux (exclusively at Maison Blanche) gives that ease and comfort which one feels in being correctly attired.

Make Your Practice Pay Better

Thousands of dentists find doing their own X-Ray work promotes systematic methods . . . accurate diagnoses . . . elimination of errors.

When a radiograph is desired the dentist with a CDX simply reaches over to the wall where it is mounted on a folding bracket, and brings it into operating position as easily as he does his dental engine.

THERE used to be more argument than now regarding the value of a dentist doing his own X-Ray work. That was before Dr. Coolidge (inventor of the Coolidge tube) perfected the CDX.

Now thousands of dentists have installed the Victor CDX. They are finding it increases their production by promoting systematic methods, by insuring accurate diagnoses, by eliminating a large proportion of errors.

These dentists, since owning the Victor CDX, have improved month by month in their radiograph technique. Through constant and increasing use, they have educated themselves in this important phase of the profession.

And this course of education has not been an expense but a profitable investment.

Costs nothing to investigate

You may think you "can't afford to bother with X-Rays." But that's what hundreds of dentists have said. Then they looked into the matter more thoroughly. Now these operators cheerfully admit that owning a Victor CDX has made them better dentists . . . has paid them dividends in cash and in prestige.

It is so easy to own a Victor CDX. Don't let "cost" worry you. Make us show you that it needn't be considered. Just ask us on the convenient coupon to send you all the facts.

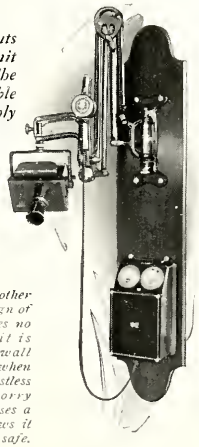
down payment puts the Victor CDX Unit in your office. The balance is payable in 25 easy monthly payments.



Compactness is another feature in the design of the CDX. Requires no floor space, as it is mounted on the wall and out of the way when not in use. The restless patient doesn't worry the dentist who uses a CDX, for he knows it is 100% electrically safe.

YOU CAN DEPEND ON WALTON TRAINING

Well trained accountants earn big pay because business needs them. The real problem is—what school offers the soundest, safest training?

The unequalled Walton record of student successes is the surest proof of the thoroughness of Walton methods.

Walton students have won 18 medals offered by the Illinois Society of Certified Public Accountants for high standing in the Illinois semi-annual examinations.

Walton courses have been adopted as standard by more than 100 leading Universities and Colleges.

A specialized school in Accountancy, Business Law and other Commerce subjects. Intensive courses—no time wasted. Write for handsome descriptive book; and state your interest in resident or non-resident courses.

Merchandise plays an important part in dentistry, for skill cannot be achieved without good instruments and materials.

Our job is to comb the market for the best that can be recommended to our customers, and our success in this field has made the name of Davidson and Dental Supplies synonymous. An expression of confidence from the profession is shown by our steady growth during the thirty years of our existence.
